How It Works

- Once logged in, students must validate their college enrollment through ID.me by visiting chipotle.com/chipotle-u-rewards.
- The top 10 college towns with the most new Chipotle U Rewards members at the end of Chipotle U Rivalry Week, 11:59PM PT on November 17, will receive a BUY-ONE-GET-ONE (BOGO) offer for college students in their town.

At the start of Chipotle U Rivalry Week on November 10, the brand will launch a microsite featuring a heatmap of 100 college towns that are among those that eat the most Chipotle. The site will also feature an opportunity for fans to write in their college town and add it to the race. Daily for seven days, the microsite will be updated with sign-up stats so students can track the competition. At the end of the week, the top 10 college towns who have added the most Chipotle U Rewards members will get a BOGO offer for the college students in their town. The BOGO will be dropped directly into wallets of Chipotle U Rewards members.

"Chipotle U Rivalry Week harnesses campus spirit and turns it into real rewards for students," said Curt Garner, President, Chief Strategy and Technology Officer of Chipotle. "The college towns that activate the most superfans will have their passion rewarded with the ultimate trophy: free Chipotle."
